“ Mr. Bellinger was truly one of my favorite people. He had a sweetness and kindness about him that could soften even my hardest days, and he always knew how to make me laugh. We shared so many long, heartfelt talks—often filled with humor and our own spirited commentary on the state of our country—that I will cherish forever. Because our political views were so closely aligned, he always knew how to make me feel better when I was upset about everything happening around us. And in true Mr. Bellinger fashion, he sometimes egged me on and got me even more riled up about what was going on around us—but always in a way that left us laughing together in the end. I will miss him deeply—his warmth, his humor, and the comfort of our conversations. Rest peacefully, Mr. Bellinger. Thank you for the joy, the laughter, and the memories. You will always be remembered with love.
