“ As the hour approaches for you to say your final "see you later" to your son and our cousin Mitchell; know that we are praying for your strength. We can not be there in the physical but we are there in spirit. To grieve a child is something unbearable and to know that it was at the hands of another is even more devastating. No one can understand the pain that you have to endure unless they too have gone through it. There is no time limit for your grieving and don't allow anyone to tell you that there is...You allow God to guide and comfort you. Know that your Wilson family members are here for you.

We Love You,
LaMonte and Catrina
