I miss you .I think about you and the family. I know your singing with the angels. I promise I'll help look after your babies. I love you and I'm thankful and grateful to have known a person as sweet as you. You were always strong even at your weakest . I never heard you complain. I love you and until we meet again!

“ *Mrs Pouncey and I have grown to become very very close. I was one of the dialysis RN at Memorial hospital that had the pleasure of caring for her. Mrs Pouncey became a wonderful friend to me! I made sure she had my number to WHENEVER and if she wanted and I became a friend to her. She was ALWAYS pleasant and kind!! She had a wonderful spirit. I will always love you Mrs. Pouncey. I would often call to tell your hospice nurse , "please tell Mrs. Pouncey I love her and I am thinking about her, but today I called too late. I know you are in a better place my ANGEL, S.I.P, love you always

“ I remember the first day we met you were exactly one week postpartum from having your little girl and I was your nurse at DaVita. I tried so hard to put myself in your shoes because we were the same age and mothers but there was no way I could. There was never a time you did not inspire me to never give up. You made me a better me by appreciating the simple things in life. Thank you for allowing me to be a part of your life through the good and the bad. I love you and will miss you. Sending all my love and prayers to your family and your sweet sweet babies.

“ Hey sis, I still can't believe your gone. It's been so hard but I find peace in knowing you're no longer in pain, no more tears, no more surgeries, no more worries... All I can see in my head is your smiling face now even when I'm trying to focus on something I still see you smiling. I miss you so much girl I never thought Sunday would be the last time I would hear your voice (our last conversation). I will never forget the good times we shared and the bad times too lol but the good outweigh the bad. I lit a purple candle because that was your favorite color. I love you girl...R.I.P.!!

Praying for all of your loved ones and friends especially your husband and your babies.*

“ You never realize how important a laugh, a tear, or a moment is until you can no longer share that laugh, that tear, or moment with someone. It seems unreal, I haven't talked to you in years but know I always prayed for you. I'm will continue to pray for your family and friends. To be absent from body is to be present with the Lord. Rest on in His loving Arms. Sending lots of love, strength, and prayers to the Jackson and Pouncey Family.
